In the fust and flurry made over the sweet girl graduate the boy who graduates at the same time is hardly getting the attention which he deserves. In the years to come, says the Chicago Tribune, if he does his duty, he will earn money for the support of the girl, who during the present month is the center of all eyes. He will be elected to the city council and possibly to congress; he will preach the Gospel and practice law; he will start a factory or open a business. In a large degree the future welfare of the country will depend upon his intelligent and honest activity. The prejudice against the college graduate, which never had a sound foundation in fact, is gradually disappearing. He has shown his force in almost every department of life, until it has come to be admitted that the so-called self-made man does not hold a monopoly of all the brains and energy in the country. So, while all will unite in drinking a toast to the maiden in her white frock and blue ribbons, a similar if not an equal honor is due to the newly made bachelor of arts. The college man of to-day knows as well as anyone can tell him that all his future success depends mostly upon his own unaided efforts. The world is his apple and his education is simply the knife with which he must peel it.

Rev. George F. Dickinson, pastor of the Hilton Methodist church, Newark, N. J., announced to his congregation on a recent Sunday that the regular Friday night prayer meeting would not be held in the church that week, as many members of the congregation would be busy harvesting the strawberry crop. There has been a small attendance at the church on Friday nights for the last few weeks, and inquiry on the part of the pastor developed the fact that the regular attendants were busy until late in the evening in the strawberry beds. In announcing that there would be no meeting Rev. Mr. Dickinson said: "I do not wish to interfere between you and your harvesting. You have been blessed with a large crop of berries, and it is your duty to gather them. I am sure that you will attend services better when the season is done."

Thousands who have written for one of the free trial bottles of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy have literally had their lives saved by a postal card. They got the trial bottle, and it proved to them that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was the only real cure for diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Chronic Constipation and the sicknesses peculiar to women. They bought a large sized bottle of their druggists and it benefited or cured them (the above is not an idle statement, but the result of careful investigation). You can do the same thing. If you are in doubt as to whether you have trouble with your Kidneys or Bladder, put some of your urine in a glass tumbler and let it stand 24 hours; if it has a sediment, or a milky, cloudy appearance, if it is rosy or stringy, pale or discolored, you should lose no time in taking Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy; it can be had of all druggists at $1.00 a large bottle, or six bottles for $5.00. It is without question the surest medicine of the age to put a stop to such dangerous symptoms as pain in the back, a frequent desire to urinate, especially at night, scalding burning pain in passing urine, inability to hold urine and all the unpleasant and dangerous effects produced on the system by the use of whiskey and beer.

"A sympathetic strike" of unique kind occurred in New Jersey the other day. A poor old horse was used in a certain department of a glass factory, but did not have the privilege which his human fellow-workmen enjoyed of "knocking off" when the whistle sounded. The men tried unsuccessfully to obtain shorter hours for the old nag, and at last "struck," but gave notice that they would gladly resume work whenever the horse's hours of labor should be made to conform to their own. The newspapers are silent as to the result, but it is to be hoped that matters have been settled to the satisfaction of all—especially of the horse.

It will take nearly all the men, women, boys and girls of Ellis county, Kan., to harvest the 147,076 acres of wheat that is ripening. Most of the farmers have their entire acreage in wheat, and to harvest it the wives and children of farmers go into the fields and work with the men. Eighteen women of Hays City have engaged to go into the harvest fields. They will earn from $1.50 to $2 a day, and many a young woman will appear in church this fall with new frocks that were bought with money earned driving a header box.

A Minister's Good Work.

"I had a severe attack of bilious colic, got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, took two doses and was entirely cured," says Rev. A. A. Power, of Emporia, Kan. "My neighbor across the street was sick for over a week, had two or three bottles of medicine from the doctor. He used them for three or four days without relief, then called in another doctor who treated him for some days and gave him no relief, so discharged him. I went over to see him the next morning. He said his bowels were in a terrible fix, that they had been running off so long that it was almost bloody flux. I asked him if he had tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and he said, 'No.' I went home and brought him my bottle and gave him one dose; told him to take another dose in fifteen or twenty minutes if he did not find relief, but he took no more and was entirely cured. I think it the best medicine I have ever tried." For sale by C. P. Champney, Druggist.

MAN AND MOUSE TRAP.

Wreckage Made by an Exulting Encounter Between Them in a Dark Room.

"Talk about your peculiar mishaps," said a young man to a New Orleans Times-Democrat reporter, "something happened to our boarding-house the other night that I think is entitled to first money. One of our lodgers is a very fat man, who has a job as bookkeeper in a wholesale house near the river. Well, he has a room directly under mine, and lately we have all been bothered more or less by mice. The landlady declared war on them, and for light artillery she bought a lot of small wire traps—those dome-shaped affairs with holes around the top for the beasts to stick their heads into.

"The servant put one in each room and a few evenings ago, when she was going around baiting the lot, was careless enough to leave the fat man's standing on top of his dresser. He happened to be out attending a singing society that night and didn't get home until about one a. m. His room was pitch dark, but he knew there were some matches on the dresser, and, moving cautiously across the floor, he began pawing around for the box. At about the first plunge he made he stuck his fat forefinger into one of the apertures of the mouse trap, and the thing snapped on him like the jaws of a bulldog.

"Now, imagine if you can," continued the railroad clerk, "how you would feel yourself if you were prowling around in a dark room and some unknown monster suddenly nailed you by the finger and hung on. I am free to say I would probably have howled just as loudly as the fat man did. He supposed, of course, that the thing that held him was alive, and when he tried to knock it off his hand encountered the corpse of two mice that had been caught in the other holes before he came in. The touch of their soft, furry bodies confirmed the idea that it was a living creature, and it was then, as he explained afterward, that he tried to escape to the hall, and got tangled up with the furniture.

"How he came to demolish so many different things in such a short space of time is a mystery, but you know how easy it is to bump into all the articles in a dark room under the most ordinary circumstances, and a fat man with a mouse-trap hanging to his finger would naturally be a great deal more destructive. Anyhow, it was that first bellow of mortal terror that awakened me, and the next thing I heard was a succession of frightful crashes mixed with the noise of breaking glass, shuffling feet, torn cloth, falling furniture and temple profanity. I could have sworn that my neighbor was having a fight with at least eight burglars, and, needless to say, the whole house was up in a moment. Of course nobody was anxious to go in and get murdered while that awful row was in progress, but presently it died out, and when we pushed open the door we found the bookkeeper sitting in the middle of the room, totally collapsed, with the mouse-trap still hanging to his finger and the floor littered with the wreck of all his belongings.

"A 50-pound lyddite shell couldn't have produced a more picturesque ruin. Ever since then a desperate argument has been in progress as to who is responsible for the damages. The landlady declares the fat man will have to pay for the smashed furniture, and he swears by the nine gods he won't give up a cent. On the contrary, he wants remuneration for his lacerated finger, the shock of his nerves, and the suit of clothes ruined in the battle. I wouldn't be surprised if the case got into the courts with the mouse-trap as 'Exhibit A.'"

CHARGED BOARDER EXTRA.

But the Landlady Found She Had Overreached Herself Talking About It.

They were seated together in a car of an incoming suburban train the other morning, so near to The Saunterer that he could not avoid hearing every word of their conversation, relates the Philadelphia Inquirer. The fat woman got on the train two stations ahead of the thin woman.

"Well, how do you do?" the latter began, effusively, as soon as she had dropped into the seat alongside of the former. "Why, how do you do? So glad to see you. Didn't know I had started to take boarders since I saw you last, did you?"

The fat woman admitted her ignorance on that subject.

"Well, I have," continued the thin woman. "How do I like it? Well, it has its drawbacks; lots of 'em."

"Yes, I suppose it must have," assented the fat woman. "Boarders with grumble, boarders with big appetites and all that sort of thing."

"My talking of boarders with big appetites," rejoined the thin woman. "You ought to see the new boarder I got yesterday. A young fellow, and he seemed to have so much money I charged him two dollars more a week than any of the other boarders. But, say, he can certainly eat. Had breakfast at the house this morning. What do you think of sending out for chops three times, hot cakes twice, and coffee, why, he must have swallowed five cups at least. Then the potatoes he ate were enough for three ordinary men. I never dreamed there could be so much food put inside of such a small man. Of course, it made me nervous all the time he was eating. Why didn't I tell him he mustn't eat so much? Why, I don't want to lose him, don't you understand? I'm making money off of him, all right, but goodness knows he carries off the prize for big eating. Come out and see him some time. It's worth your while, I'll guarantee you."

"She'll be too late, madam," interposed a young fellow who, sitting one seat to the rear of the two women, had remained unnoticed by them. "I don't believe I'll return to your house any more. It doesn't exactly suit me, anyway. The money I paid you in advance, including the two dollars overcharge, will pay you well for the trouble and expense I've put you to. Good-morning; I get off here."

It was fully five minutes after the train pulled away from the station before the woman spoke, and all she said was:

"Well, who'd a-thought it?"

FRAGRANT SALTS.

A Delicate and Refreshing Preparation That Is Easily Made.

Women of to-day are not as liable to faint as their grandmothers were, because they dress more sensibly and do not wear as tight dresses or as tight shoes and gloves, but it is a wise and sensible precaution to keep fragrant salts on hand, says the New York Tribune. Any salt loses its strength in a short time. The simple lavender salts are the most desirable of all perfumed salts. These are easily prepared at home. While you are preparing a portion of these salts it is as easy to make several bottles or vinaigrettes as one, and the cost is small. Procure half a dozen small, clear glass bottles, with close-cut glass stoppers if you wish. A pretty stopper costs very little, purchased with the bottles by the half dozen, and adds considerably to the value of the vinaigrette as a gift. It is desirable that a vinaigrette be small, so it may be easily carried in the pocket. Vinaigrettes are often very elaborate, decorated with silver, gold and even precious stones, but a tiny bottle of clear glass with a pretty stopper is always in good taste and as useful as a more ornate one. To prepare the salt, procure from a trustworthy druggist half a pound of carbonate of ammonia and an ounce and a half of the best oil of lavender. Crush the two together in a mortar, or in any dish that will mix them. Set the mixture in a large bowl, which should be put in a pan of warm water, covered and set in a moderate oven for about an hour. Stir the mixture several times while it is heating. It is not necessary for the ammonia to be crushed fine. If it is broken lumps it lasts longer. Do not get in the foolish habit of using a vinaigrette continually. Cases of obstinate deafness have been ascribed to this cause. The salts are also said to have an injurious effect on the vocal chords as well as on the auditory nerves when used continually. Even the odor of flowers, notably the odor of violets, has been known to cause a singer temporarily to lose her voice.

Story of A Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, backache, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, fainting and dizzy spells. It is a godsend to weak, sickly, run-down people. Pure guaranteed. Only 50c. Sold by all druggists.
